DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS filed 11/30/2004 has been partially considered, as one of the references therein is cited to show distinctness of inventions, below. The remainder of the IDS will be fully considered in the first office action on the merits.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 20-27, 29 and 30, drawn to GM-CSF protein and pharmaceutical composition, classified in class 530, subclass 351 for example.
- II. Claims 28-31 as they are drawn to a vaccine comprising GM-CSF and a pathogen, classified in class 424, subclass 184.1.
- III. Claims 28-31 as they are drawn to a vaccine comprising GM-CSF and a nucleic acid, classified in class 514, subclass 44.
- IV. Claims 32-43, drawn to a pharmaceutical composition comprising GM-CSF-encoding nucleic acids, classified in class 514, subclass 44.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Invention I is related to each of Inventions II and III as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product may be used in either of the distinct processes, or as a pharmaceutical other than a vaccine, as evidenced by U.S. Patent No.5,162,111, cited by applicants.

The products of Invention I are separate and distinct from the composition and methods of Invention IV wherein the products not used in the methods. The products of Inventions II and

Art Unit: 1647

III are separate and distinct from the composition and methods of Invention IV wherein the products not used in the compositions or methods.

Inventions II and III are distinct methods. Although there are no provisions under the section for "Relationship of Inventions" in M.P.E.P. § 806.05 for inventive groups that are directed to different methods, restriction is deemed to be proper because these methods appear to constitute patentably distinct inventions for the following reasons: Groups II-III are directed to methods that are distinct both physically and functionally, and are not required one for the other. Invention II requires administration of a protein and a pathogen, the latter of which is not required by the other group. Invention III requires administration of nucleic acid, which is not required the other groups. Invention III requires that the nucleic acid be in an appropriate vector, and be appropriately expressed in the host cells, which requires a separate search from that required for administration of a pathogen or antigen. Therefore, a search and examination of both methods in one patent application would result in an undue burden, since the searches for the methods are not co-extensive, the classification is different, and the subject matter is divergent.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re

Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b),” 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
